

Mountain View School Garden is Growing!

Through the efforts of Master Gardeners Susan Hoffman and Nancy Tovar, the school garden at Mt. View School is greatly expanding. The new addition to the garden will include a pergola for outdoor classes. Scouts from Troop 170 have helped spread the gravel in preparation for the assembly of the pergola in August. A large storage shed, constructed by the Crescent Valley High School carpentry class, will be a welcome addition for organizing tools and supplies for the garden.

Other MGs on the team include Deb and Kevin Kern, Jessica Hoover, Lisa Wood, Marion Shapiro, Rich Taylor, and Associates MG's Staci Stein and Bob Hoffman. Our team also includes several grandparents, parents and interested Community Members.

As the fall comes on we will have many tasks related to the expansion. As school starts again, we begin working with students. More Master Gardener Members are so very welcomed to join us. If you are interested in trying out elementary garden education, please contact Susan Hoffman, shoff@ peak.org, or text at 541-602-4504 and we can talk about when we usually work and the requirements for volunteering in a school.
